Workshop Series Objectives

- Bring issues identified by the Rising Sea Level and Bay Fill Commissioner Working Groups, Policies for a Rising Bay project, and the Adapting to Rising Tides Program to the full Commission and a broader range of participants
- Assist the Commission in determining the direction BCDC and the region should take to address rising sea levels
- Begin new levels of coordination and collaboration

Workshop #6

The sixth workshop is focused on scoping the implementation of the regional actions on sea level rise approved by the Commission on October 6, 2016. Workshop six will focus on Action 2, which is "Complete multi-sector, county-scale sea level rise vulnerability assessments for all nine counties using the Adapting to Rising Tides Program". The workshop will include a poster session presenting the adaptation programs and assessments that have been completed or that are currently ongoing and a panel discussion addressing the local and regional scale issues, challenges and lessons learned.

The poster session and panel will include the following projects:

- Marin County's C-SMART and BayWAVE
- San Mateo County's SeaChange
- Coastal Conservancy Climate Adaptation Programs
- Association of Bay Area Government's Resilience Program
- Bay Conservation and Development Commission's Adapting to Rising Tides Program, including Contra Costa and Alameda Counties
